

Rules for Demonstrations and Display Boards at the Science Fair

For the safety of all scientists, visitors, and participants, we ask for your compliance with the following rules:

1. The following items shall NOT be exhibited at the Science Fair:

- Dangerous, toxic, medical or combustible chemicals (Including, but not limited to - Alka Seltzer, Aspirin/acetylsalicylic acid, liquid nitrogen, dry ice)
- Controlled substances of any kind
- Alcohol or tobacco products
- Firearms or explosives
- Live animals - Models, stuffed animals or photographs should be used.
- Open flames
- Hot plates, electric kettles or boiling water
- Dangerous machinery or tools
- Any substance or machine that produces a foul odor or loud sounds - If these items are part of the project, they should be modified, described in writing, photographed or recorded.
- Nuts and nut butters of any kind
- Latex

2. All non-toxic liquids brought into school must be clearly labeled:

With the name of the liquid and the chemical formula. All liquids must be labeled as NON-TOXIC.

3. All projects must be on the display board and be